

The Global Standard for Protection Film "QUA+" is Released.

Announcement of Cost-effective Protection as Total Solution

NOTE: This product will be released overseas after May, 2021.

FE TRADE CO., LTD starts offering the protection film "QUA+" from UNIGLOBE®. This product is designed to be easy to install, stain-resistant, durable, and cost-effective. It is a global standard protection film that sets a new standard while maintaining the quality of UNIGLOBE products. UNIGLOBE will keep evolving protection film business and offering total solutions.

■ Background of the Launch

With the expansion of the market for protection film, not only the original function of protecting against scratches but also various functions such as excellent appearance and durability are required. The products that meet these requirements are now available. In addition to these functions, workability is also an important factor in achieving a high-quality finish. FE TRADE has continued to develop protection films in pursuit of convenience while keeping in line with the market trends, focusing on balancing functionality and workability with cost. In addition to the high-end model, QUATECT®, one of our propositions was to create a lineup of the standard model with excellent cost performance that would contribute to demand. We finally announce the launch of QUA+, a product that meets global standards while encompassing the functionality of UNIGLOBE products.
